

A. Interview Guide

Topic	Questions
Introduction	Informed consent, ask for permission to record Given an introduction of the research Who are you and what is your role?
Provenance Research	What is the goal with provenance research? Which provenance related information is important (to record/store/document)? How do you manage multiple statements regarding the provenance of the same object? (If there are any) How do you manage gaps in provenance?
Documentation of provenance information	How is the provenance information documented? Are certain guidelines or standards followed? Are different types of acquisition defined? If multiple provenance statements regarding the same object are identified, do you/would you document them all?
Representation of provenance information	Do you/your institution use certain models to represent provenance information? Do you/your institution structure the provenance information in a machine-readable way? Are there any problems with the representations of today?
Usage of provenance information	What is the utility of provenance data? To whom is provenance data useful? In which context is provenance data useful?